Message from our Pastor

My dear friends, please read this reflection from Antonio P. Pueyo.

The best kind of water is not spring water or bottled water, mineral water or distilled water. The best water is what you drink when you are thirsty. Every athlete, laborer, or traveler experiences this.

The Gospel today is about thirst and water. It is about human need and its satisfaction. The story of the meeting of Jesus and the woman at the well started with a simple request from Jesus, "Give me a drink." It was noontime. Jesus was thirsty. There was only one village well, but as the custom of the times suggests, one has to bring his own pail or bucket and tie it to the ready rope. By necessity, Jesus had to ask the woman for a drink from her own pitcher. This was socially unacceptable and the Samaritan woman had to remind Jesus about this. Jews and Samaritans don't mix. In the not so distant past, my generation took water for granted. Since there was not much pollution of the environment yet, one merely digs a well beside the house for water supply. The well does not have to be deep. There is potable water near the surface. For really clean water, the well is covered and a pitcher pump is installed. In the barrios, we drank from streams or we dig a hole beside the river and allow the water to clear. Either we had strong stomachs or the water was cleaner then. Now we buy bottled water. We also buy thirst quenchers such as soft drinks or energy drinks.

Their dialogue progressed from a simple request for a drink to discussion about living water. Living water ordinarily meant water that flows from a spring rather than stagnant water from a well. However in their discussion it came to mean the water of eternal life. The woman's knowledge of Jesus also progressed, from a mere stranger who is a Jew, to a prophet, to a messiah and savior. Jesus no longer was a stranger – He became a friend. Because of the woman's testimony the other villagers invited Jesus to stay with them and He stayed for two days.

From stranger to friend. Another real-life story illustrates this movement. Two good friends who were unbelievers were discussing Christianity. One of them, Colonel Robert Ingersoll suggested to his friend General Lew Wallace to write a book that will give scientific and scholarly evidence that Jesus is a fraud, and not a messiah or savior. Since Wallace was a true researcher, he first read the whole Bible. Then he read other scholarly books about Jesus. To get a first-hand experience of the Holy land, he went there and talked to the ordinary people. The result of all this research? He became a believer. He wrote the book which became the basis for the great movie, Ben Hur. A memorable line from this movie was the centurion at the crucifixion saying, "Truly, this is the Son of God." General Wallace's thirst for truth was answered.

As we continue our meditations for this season of Lent, we can ask the question, "What do I thirst for?" What is it I really need? Where do I seek the answers? Some people seek for the truth, others for love, understanding and forgiveness. Wallace and the centurion found the answer on the Cross.

Cantar como ante. del S.R.: El Señor es mi Pastor...
Ev. de hoy: aparición de Jesús resucitado, que se da a conocer a través signos inequívocos de su amor: les regala a sus amigos, sus apóstoles, una pesca milagrosa, y prepara el almuerzo para ellos. De todo este rico pasaje del Evangelio de San Juan, centremos nuestra atención en el dialogo de Jesús con Pedro: Por tres veces Jesús lo llama, mencionando su nombre y el de su padre (es un modo de indicar que lo que se dice es sólo para él). Y él le pregunta a cerca de su amor... y Pedro se entristece... Porque las 3 preguntas le recuerdan las 3 negaciones. Jesús le muestra así a Pedro que Él conoce sus negaciones y Pedro constata una vez más que el Señor lo sabe todo... Y recurre a ese conocimiento de Jesús: si conoce todo, si conoce todo su pecado, conoce todo el amor que hay en su corazón: Señor, tú lo sabes todo...

Jesús conoce los corazones... Es un conocimiento propio y exclusivo de Dios, que con su mirada penetra en el interior de todo hombre. Y pide cuenta de todos los actos, pensamientos, intenciones, deseos, aún los más ocultos y desconocidos. Y también, porque es Dios, Jesús exige un amor sin límites (recordar el I mandamiento...)

Este amor por el que Cristo pregunta no es el sentimentalismo, ni palabras dulzonas. Es el amor verdadero que se expresa con la entrega, así como Cristo se entregó por nosotros a la muerte más dolorosa y humillante: No hay amor más grande... Así nos ama Dios, éste es el Amor que la espera de nosotros, y sobre éste amor es examinado Pedro: Amarás al Señor tu Dios... Es un amor que no se reserva nada para sí, sino que todo lo que tiene y lo que es lo entrega a aquel a quien ama.
