Thirty- third Sunday in Ordinary Time

Message from our Pastor

My dear friends, please read this reflection from Antonio P. Pueyo, as we prepare for the NEW liturgical year.

We are coming to the end of the liturgical season. The liturgical cycle ends with the celebration of the feast of Christ the King next Sunday. After that, a new cycle begins with the first Sunday of Advent. Appropriately enough, the readings of this Sunday remind us of the proper Christian attitude toward the end of the world.

Disaster movies abound and some become top earners. These movies show some impending disaster such as a massive earthquake, a big meteor about to crash into earth, an abrupt climate change, or aliens invading the earth. As movies go, a technology is proposed and heroes arise to avert the disaster. Life goes back to normal and people live happily ever after.

Action starter: Do not be misled by false prophets who will use our fears for their ends.

Such movie themes tug at a common chord of insecurity in the human heart. Since the dawn of civilization, our ancestors had to contend with forces that threaten their survival. They had to forage for food, confront wild animals, protect themselves from marauding enemies, build shelters and survive harsh weather conditions. The world was dangerous and survival was precarious.

We learned to deal with the threats to our survival. With our creativity, we have come up with the technology by which life became more secure and comfortable. We learned to employ various resources and invent tools so that we can have food, shelter, clothing, and the means to protect ourselves. As we progress, we come to realize that today our greatest threat to our own survival is ourselves.

Humanity may have come up with ways to improve food production but we have not been creative enough to improve food distribution. In some places food go to waste while in many countries people die of hunger. We have come up with sophisticated arms to protect ourselves to the point that we are using them to kill one another. We have built homes to shelter ourselves from the weather so that we can keep ourselves cool when it is hot and keep ourselves warm when it is cold. In the process, we are endangering the planet by causing global warming.

That the world is in danger and that human survival is threatened is no longer a subject of debate. We are also made more and more aware that we are our own greatest enemy. We have to heed the warning of the common caricature of the modern prophet standing by the roadside with the sign, "The end is near. Repent." We do need to repent, not just as individuals for our individual sins but also corporately. We are one people living in one world. Perhaps with humanity's common effort we will be able to deal creatively with the disasters that are engulfing us, "Nation will fight against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. There will be great earthquakes and plagues and famines here and there; there will be fearful sights and great signs from heaven" (Lk. 21:10-11).

The signs are around us. The price of oil is going up. Water is becoming scarce. People are being killed by bombs. Mountains are being denuded. Waste is piling up. The temperature is getting warmer and the weather more erratic. Typhoons occur in some places while other parts of the globe are drying up.

What then is the proper Christian attitude during these realities? It should be that of hopeful endurance, knowing that God's goodness will triumph over evil, and faith will overcome fear and suffering. We have different counsels from the readings of this Sunday: "Take care not to be deceived" (Lk.21:8). "My brothers, never grow tired of doing what is right" (2 Thess.3:13). "For you who fear my name, the sun of righteousness will shine out with healing in its rays" (Mal. 3:19-20)

En el Evangelio de hoy Jesús nos habla del fin del mundo. Hoy está de moda hablar de que el fin del mundo está cerca. A todos estos profetas yo les diría que Cristo nos avisó de que nadie sabía cuándo sería el fin del mundo. No sabemos cuándo será, pero sí sabemos que será, porque es dogma de fe. Además, la ciencia nos confirma el fin del mundo. Eddington hablaba de la muerte térmica del cosmos. Efectivamente, por la ley de la entropía la energía se va degradando y llegará a anularse: para que pase agua de un depósito a otro tiene que haber diferencia de nivel; para que pase electricidad de un polo a otro hace falta diferencia de potencial; para que pase calor de un cuerpo a otro hace falta diferencia de temperatura. Cuando esto se haya nivelado ya no será posible la energía. Será la muerte térmica de la que hablaba Eddington.

Y lo mismo que esta ley física nos sirve para hablar de la muerte del cosmos también nos sirve para hablar de su comienzo.

Es cosa sabida que el hidrógeno se convierte en helio en un proceso continuo e irreversible, pues el helio es más estable. Esto supone que el proceso tuvo un principio, pues el hidrógeno del cosmos es limitado y todavía queda hidrógeno en el cosmos. Si ponemos el comienzo demasiado lejos, ya se habría convertido en helio todo el hidrógeno. Los astrónomos le dan al cosmos una edad de unos quince mil millones de años. Ésa fue la fecha de la creación.

This past May, after years of study, ten men were ordained to the priesthood for our Diocese. As they prepared for their vocation, they were supported by family and friends. When you make a pledge to the Bishop's Annual Appeal, they are also supported by you since Appeal funds are used to help meet the cost of priestly formation and education. Please support our seminarians by making a pledge to the Bishop's Annual Appeal today. For your convenience, you can make an online gift at www.2016appeal.org.

Straight & Narrow Collection
(Sat, Nov 26th – Sun, Nov 27th)

We want to thank you for your continual support in donating items to the men and women of Straight & Narrow, plus a special thank you to the money donated to this Diocesan agency.

The Parish office will be closed in observance of Thanksgiving, Thursday and Friday, the Day After Thanksgiving, November 24 and 25, 2016. We will resume to regular office hours on Monday, November 28th, 2016.
